

PROVOCATION 1

Riccardo Marini

Stefan White

what are architects (good) for?

Discussant: Dan Dubowitz

Riccardo Marini was one of the last city architects in the UK and went on to be a director at Jan Gehl, now advising urban policy in Kazakhstan.

Prof Stefan White is Joint Head of MSA and leads the PHASE Place-Health research group in engaged design-research understanding and creating healthier places, working with national and local government, housing, health and care providers and local communities.